

For Immediate Release

MOBILESECURE ANNOUNCES THE LAUNCH OF ONEDGE PROTECTIVE SERVICES, A MOBILE DATA SECURITY MANAGED SERVICE

MobileSecure OnEdge Protective Services provides companies with a mobile security solution for their traveling workforce that protects against the potential loss of data on laptops.

Andover, MA, January 9, 2008—MobileSecure, a leader in mobile security solutions, today announced the availability of OnEdge Protective Services, a Managed Service to address the challenges of data loss and leakage. OnEdge Protective Services allows large and small companies to comply with government regulations that require them to disclose when there has been a potential data breach of their customer's personal information. This service also enables companies to minimize the impact and exposure in the event that confidential data is compromised.

The OnEdge Protective Services is targeted at companies looking for a mobile data protection solution that can be easily deployed and managed with minimal distraction to their workforce. Businesses are looking for solutions that can limit the exposure of a potential loss of data and that enable them to work with regulatory authorities to meet their demands for disclosure. MobileSecure is working with Managed Service Providers (MSPs) to provide a service to their customers who are concerned about the data on the laptops of their mobile employees. Using the service, MSPs can enable their customers to gain visibility to the data that is on laptops and where these laptops are being used. In the case of a lost laptop, the MSP can remotely lock down the device and report back to the company as to what data was on the device. Companies can show regulators that they have a detailed plan of action and can show what data was at risk, specifically which customers may have been impacted. This service can help to contain and limit the disclosure they are required to provide their customer.

"We launched this service as a result of our experience in working with companies that need simple yet effective solutions that will not impact their productivity. We see the MSPs as a natural partner in this effort. They best know their customers and how to support them. We believe this type of service is a must for all mobile workers that use their laptops to capture sensitive customer data as part of their daily work." says Duncan Mackay, CEO of MobileSecure.

About MobileSecure

MobileSecure provides innovative solutions that prevent data loss and leakage of high-value content and intellectual property. The MobileSecure platform allows companies to enforce prevention of data theft and also monitor the movement of devices and data as they move throughout the mobile environment.

For more information visit <http://www.mobilesecure.com>